Venice: Losing none of its allure over the years, this floating city of canals, bridges and masks is a place of eternal beauty and enduring elegance. The lagoon of more than 100 islands is a heavenly sight, transporting visitors on a journey through time - from its Roman inception, through centuries of trade to the modern face we see today. Navigate Venice's sparkling waterways by romantic gondola, or on cruises along wide canal boulevards.

Trieste: A city happy to keep one foot resolutely in its beautiful, illustrious past, Trieste is a treasure, which sits on a historical frontier of civilizations and cultures. Nestled on the coast by the Slovenian border, the city soaked up many influences before returning to Italy in 1954. Wealth as a trading hub helped to shape Trieste's grand piazzas and soaring artistic architectural achievements.

Dubrovnik, Split, Hvar and Zadar: Croatia's shoreline might only be 500 km from tip to toe, but with the many creeks and crannies that espouse the craggy coast, that number is more than tripled. The Dalmatian coast is simply wonderful for those looking for the ideal Adriatic retreat. The miles of shore seem tailor made for discovery - from the medieval grandeur of Dubrovnik and Split, to the powder white sands of Hvar, to the dazzling mesh of culture and charisma in Zadar, there is something for everyone here.
